

All Of 13 Missing On Lake St. Clair Believed Drowned

DETROIT (AP)—Fear mounted today that all 13 persons missing on Lake St. Clair since Sunday have drowned.

Three bodies were found Tuesday, raising to five those known to have drowned in the wind-raked lake. Eight still are unaccounted for.

The three bodies found yesterday were those of Walter Yeomans, 40 his wife, Lileth, 38, and their son, Thomas, 7.

Still missing was a fourth member of the Yeomans family of Grosbeak Point Woods, a son, Walter, Jr., 12.

Whole Family Lost

The family of David MacLerie, 38, of Detroit, also was missing from the Yeomans' cruiser which was found overturned by searching planes and boats. They had gone for a pleasure cruise with the Yeomans. Besides the husband, others in the family were his wife, Ruth, 36 their daughter, Carole, 10, and son, David, Jr., 5.

Also missing were Harold DeLine, 38, of Detroit, and a man and woman believed to be Kenneth Anderson, 47, and Gladys Woodard, 29, both of Detroit. The trio took off Sunday morning in a rented outboard motorboat to go fishing.

Richard Schlarb, 20, a Detroit veteran of Korea, and his 16-year-old bride, Garaldine, drowned Sunday at the mouth of the St. Clair River as waves kicked up by gusty winds swamped the 12-foot boat in which they were returning from a picnic on Sand Island.

Cling To Boat

Five others riding with the Schlarbs clung to the water-logged boat and were rescued.

Four other persons reported missing over the weekend and feared drowned turned up safely yesterday.

They included Carl A. Knisely, 64, of Birmingham, who became separated from two fishing companions on Thunder Bay River in Oscoda County, and three boys who returned to their homes at Goodrich. The boys, all wards of the Genesee County Probate Court, were missing for a time on Griffin Lake near Davison.

Pakistan Army To Get U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States formally pledged today to provide "military equipment and training assistance" to Pakistan's armed forces.

The agreement, bitterly opposed by India, was signed at Karachi by Pakistan's foreign minister Sir Mohammed Zafarullah Khan, and John Kenneth Emerson, American Embassy charge d'affaires.

The action, announced here, paves the way for sizable shipments of American weapons to modernize Pakistan's army so it can help guard that Asiatic region against possible Communist aggression.

In an obvious move to reassure India, the United States and Pakistan simultaneously exchanged notes setting forth "their mutual understanding" that the agreement:

1. Does not involve granting of military bases on Pakistan soil to the United States.

2. Does not establish a military alliance between Pakistan and the United States.

President Asks Continuance Of Army-McCarthy Hearing

Liquor Ads Cause Juvenile Crime, W.C.T.U. Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union said today the liquor industry is "willfully using . . . advertising to break down standards in the home and create juvenile delinquency."

WCTU's views were set forth by its president, Mrs. Glenn G. Hays of Evanston, Ill., in testimony prepared for a House Commerce Committee hearing on legislation to ban interstate advertising of beer, wine and liquor in newspapers and periodicals, on radio and television.

This is an annual battle between wets and dries. In the past four years, the dries have lost.

Leading the fight against the bill were the Distilled Spirits Institute, Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., and several labor groups. Also lined up to be heard were representatives of newspaper associations, advertising agencies, magazines and radio and television broadcasters.

Proponents of the legislation were headed by Methodist Bishop Wilbur E. Hammacker of Washington and included spokesmen for church groups as well as the WCTU.

Mercy Shuttle Speeded Up For French Wounded

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—At least 80 more wounded were expected to arrive here tonight from captured Dien Bien Phu as the French mobilized all available helicopters and light planes to speed the mercy shuttle.

Coincident with the step-up of evacuations, the French intensified their air assaults on rebel troops moving out of Dien Bien Phu along the 70-mile highway leading towards the strategic Red River delta, seen as the next Vietnamese target.

Top Generals Arrive
(A source with the Vietnamese delegation in Geneva said Genevieve de Galard Terraube, French air force nurse who was captured by the Vietnamese when Dien Bien Phu fell, will be freed today, a Vietnamese delegation source here said.)

The source said his delegation had received the information in a telegram from the Vietnamese high command in Indochina.

It was presumed the nurse would be flown out of Dien Bien Phu by helicopter along with wounded French prisoners.

Miss De Galard, a pretty blue-eyed 29-year-old from Paris, was the only woman with the Dien Bien Phu garrison during 42 of the 56 days of siege before it fell to the Vietnamese.

She had flown into the fortress by helicopter on March 27, planning to fly out with a load of wounded. But rebel artillery destroyed her plane and kept others from landing.

"The boys have invited me to stay for the siege," she cheerfully messaged out to her mother in Paris, Countess de Galard Terraube.

The first French Union wounded released last weekend told how throughout weeks of bombardment and attack, she comforted the wounded and bolstered the fighters' courage.

Expansion Planned For Social Security Coverage Program
WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee has taken the first congressional action on President Eisenhower's plans to expand and revamp the social security program.

The Ways and Means Committee Tuesday tentatively agreed to extend social security coverage to more than half a million domestic workers, clergymen and federal employees.

Segregation Ban Final Decrees Due This Fall

By PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court is making plans to hear arguments on Oct. 12—the earliest possible date—on the form of final decrees to carry out its decision ending segregation of Negroes and whites in public schools.

Court Clerk Harold B. Willey said today he hopes the arguments can be completed in one day. The nine justices will then weigh the matter in closed conference before issuing the decrees, perhaps shortly after the arguments, possibly months later.

The court, after ruling Monday that segregation of public school pupils because of race violates the Constitution, permitted delay in the final decrees to give officials in the 17 Southern and Border states affected time to work out plans for segregation.

District of Columbia officials announced Tuesday they planned to integrate schools by the opening of the new fall term. President Eisenhower was quoted as expressing an interest and asking to be kept informed on progress.

Directly involved in the cases on the court docket, besides the District of Columbia, are South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware and Kansas. Other states which require or permit segregation in public schools were asked to file "friend of the court" briefs by Oct. 1 telling of their status on integration.

The only state to hint at open defiance was Georgia. Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said he would refuse to take part in the October hearings. Gov. Herman Talmadge, backing Cook, called the hearing an invitation "to help select a knife to cut our heads off."

While disappointment was voiced elsewhere in the South at the decision, most officials felt the problem could be worked out if approached gradually and reasonably.

WINS PRAISE ABROAD

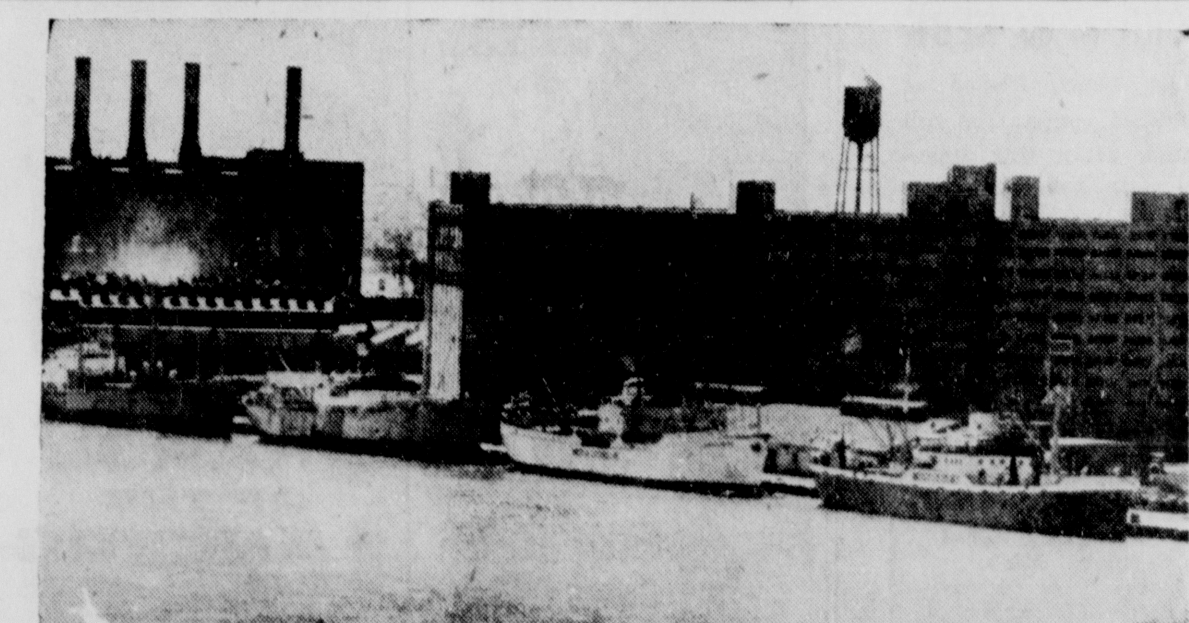

LONDON (AP)—The American Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in U.S. public schools has won a good press over the non-Communist world, something the United States frequently doesn't get.

In India, seat of much anti-American feeling, non-Red members of Parliament acclaimed the decision as unanimously as the judges had ruled. The powerful Indian Express chain of newspapers in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras welcomed the ruling as a "healthy change in enlightened American opinion."

London's Laborite Daily Herald said the anti-segregation ruling "will make every friend of humanity and every believer in democracy cheer." It termed the decision a "great liberal victory and a sign that America is going the right way about a problem it does not always recognize for what it is—a colonial problem within its own borders."

The frequently anti-American London tabloid Daily Mirror said the ruling would "rank in sociological significance with Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation."

In Paris, the Neutralist Le Monde, which also often criticizes America, devoted its regular front-page editorial to praise of the decision. The ruling, it said, "Marks the victory of justice over race prejudice, a victory for democracy."

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Guatemala's chief diplomat here staked out of an inter-American "harmony" meeting Tuesday night as Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) spoke of the "ominous arrival" in Guatemala of "a tremendous shipment of arms" from Communist Poland.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was chief speaker at a dinner in honor of Latin-American diplomats and he used the occasion to discuss a State Department announcement that a Swedish ship was unloading at a Guatemalan port arms which it reportedly had taken on at Stettin in Poland.

The senator did not name Guatemala, but it was clear he was talking about that Central American nation, which he has described before as "a Communist beachhead in the Americas."

Everybody, said Wiley, is "keenly aware of the grim implications" of the news about the arms shipment, which he said may be "a part of the master plan of world communism."

At that point in the speech, Dr. Alfredo Chocano, acting head of the Guatemalan Embassy, rose, walked to where W. Cameron Burton, president of the host district of Columbia Bar Assn., was seated TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson arrived here today for conferences with top leaders of Nationalist China and said he planned to do much listening and little talking.

Balloon Gets Data From 22 Miles Up

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Scientists said today it may take as long as a year to evaluate information gathered by the "Super Skyhook," a huge plastic balloon which soared more than 22 miles into the sky above Minnesota Tuesday.

The immense bag was 282 feet long, about the size of an 18-story office building. The balloon came down on the farm of Marvin Arndt, two miles northeast of Madison Lake.

"It looked like a jumble of bed-sheets come loose from a clothesline," said Wilbert Hart, a neighbor of Arndt's who spied the deflated plastic slithering to the earth. The 50-pound cylinder of instruments came down near Fari-bault.

Experts who tracked the bag through radio signals said it reached an altitude of between 117,000 and 122,000 feet. That would be a record for this type of balloon, constructed of polyethylene film about half the thickness of a human hair.

The balloon, constructed by General Mills, Inc. for the Office of Naval Research, was the largest of about 1,200 similar plastic bags that have been sent aloft in the past several years.

The experiments are aimed at gathering information on cosmic rays, weather data and other facts from high altitudes. Tuesday's flight covered a pattern of about 80 miles, south and west of Minneapolis.

The bag remained aloft about nine hours after its release from an airport near Minneapolis. It was deflated by an automatic ripcord device which released the instruments and tore the plastic.

Czech Reds Kill Off Sick And Insane, Free Radio Charges

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Radio Free Europe charged today Czechoslovakia's Communist government has been killing the incurably ill and insane for more than two years.

The American-sponsored radio quoted "independent and reliable sources."

Hospitals and insane asylums are screened constantly and patients considered beyond hope of recovery are removed and put to death at special euthanasia stations RFE said.

"In no cases," it added, "are relatives consulted prior to application of 'mercy' killings."

Secrecy Order Not Intended To Gag Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called for the McCarthy-Army hearings to continue—let the chips fall where they may.

And, in quick team play, Secretary of the Army Stevens declared that at no time did higher-ups in the administration give orders to the Army in the case—the issue over which the hearings were suspended for a week last Monday.

Eisenhower and Stevens joined in a maneuver obviously aimed at seeing that the onus is not laid on the administration if the hearings are not resumed, and further to cut the ground from under the contention by Sen. McCarthy that a presidential secrecy order makes it impossible to get the full truth.

Public Wants Facts

But McCarthy indicated he still feels that if the presidential order stands there should be a quick end to the Senate inquiry into the dispute between him and the Army.

These were the developments in their order:

1. Eisenhower told a news conference the hearings should not end inconclusively and without the public's getting all the facts. He said he has no intention of withdrawing his secrecy order regarding an administration conference of last January, and was astonished it was being used as a reason or excuse for suspension of the hearings.

2. McCarthy said in a statement: "If the senators maintain the position which they took in executive session, and it's on the record, that this means we can't get all the truth, then the (presidential) order will have the effect of getting us back to the all-important work of getting Communists out of defense plants and the government."

"While I don't like the method used, I can't help but applaud the results."

Improper Pressure Claimed

Asked what he would do if the senators decide to continue the hearings, McCarthy said: "We will

Deadlock Tight At Geneva Over Indochina Peace

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP)—France and the United States were reported pushing plans today for a Southeast Asia defense pact, without waiting for Britain to approve, as the conference deadlock on Indochina tightened another notch.

A source close to French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said secret French-American talks which have been going on in Washington, Paris and Geneva the past few days would continue regardless of how the Geneva parley progressed.

Communists Build Up

Here in Geneva, the nine-nation Indochina peace talks were reported stalemated over Western demands that Communist forces withdraw immediately from Laos and Cambodia.

In view of this stalemate, a French source said, France and the United States had agreed to go ahead with plans for an Asian defense pact without awaiting British approval. The British contend such negotiations should await the outcome of the Geneva conference.

The French oppose the delay. They fear the Communists may try to keep the conference enmeshed in endless debate while the Vietminh build up strength to mount a massive attack on the strategic Red River delta. When that happens, France wants to have her allies ready to fight without delay.

Laniel Asks Intervention

Britain reportedly has agreed, however, to open military staff conferences soon on Southeast Asia with the United States, France and other Allied nations interested in Southeast Asia. They include Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines.

French Premier Joseph Laniel has been conferring with U. S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon in Paris. Laniel is expected to present a concrete proposition for

State Inspects 300 Hospitals

LANSING (AP)—The state will take its first step May 27 toward certifying and approving nearly 300 general hospitals in Michigan.

On that date, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, will meet with the commissioner's hospital committee to implement a new state law requiring state certification of hospitals. The law was requested by the federal government to comply with social security regulations.

Dr. Heustis said the initial certification will cover those hospitals which have previously been inspected for maternal care standards, a program the health department has been conducting for three years.

"I doubt if in the first year of certification every hospital certified can meet all the standards," he said. "We must allow some leeway at the start and we want to be reasonable."

Dr. Heustis said the department has not had the staff to conduct full scale inspections of all general hospitals, but that the Legislature has provided funds for more inspections after July 1.

Hospitals which have not been inspected for maternity care probably cannot be certified at the start, Dr. Heustis said, adding, "We are not going to certify any hospital at which we have not even looked."

Under the maternity inspection program Dr. Heustis said, the department lists 261 hospitals in Michigan with 3,890 beds for maternal cases. Of these 203, with 3,305 beds, have full maternal health licenses and 58, with 585 beds, have provisional licenses.

South Korea Placed Under Police Alert As Election Nears

By BILL SHINN

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today put South Korea under a three-day emergency police alert as some eight million voters prepared to elect a new National Assembly Thursday.

A total of 1,213 candidates for the 203-seats legislature wound up their campaign with more charges and denials of police strong-arm interference.

Rhee has called for election of only his own Liberal party members. His main opposition, which supports his war policy but opposes his domestic program, is the Democratic Nationalist party.

Both Democratic Nationalists and independents have made numerous campaign charges of police intimidation and beatings. Government spokesmen have denied all accusations.

Students Learn City Government

Members of the Senior class of Escanaba High School today "operated" city government in an annual government study experience supervised by Miss Nina Ley of the Senior High School faculty.

The students, who had been elected by their classmates to the City Council or appointed by the Council or the city manager, spent the day in the city hall and the city utilities in learning municipal government operations.

In meeting this morning the "City Council" discussed a number of city problems, acted on some and referred others to their city manager for further study. Comprising the Council are James Ferguson, mayor, and councilmen Marilyn Myers, Gay Olson (substituting for Lynette Herro who is ill), William LeMire and Arni Dunathan.

Favor Fluoridation

The student "City Council" favored snow removal for the business district at the west end of Ludington Street; approved fluoridation of the city's water supply and the purchase of a tractor for use in city parks. It opposed the erection of traffic control lights at 10th and Ludington and at 10th St. and 1st Ave. S.

Discussed were questions of courtesy parking tickets for visitors to Escanaba, an ordinance to regulate TV antenna erection, changes in the zoning ordinance, and a concession to permit an amusement park for young children on Sand Island in Ludington Park.

George McFadden was city manager and Rosemary Morrow, clerk.

Department Heads

This afternoon the students, including all of the department heads, toured the departments and utilities to further acquaint themselves with city operations. Student department heads were:

Vincent Nelson, assessor; Jim Johnson, engineer; Dick Hengesh, forester; Bill Gaffney, administrative assistant.

Friendship Club To Meet Thursday At Youth Center

The Friendship Club, a new organization made up of people of retirement age will meet at the Youth Center Thursday evening at 8.

This meeting will be devoted to the display and discussion of hobbies and anyone in this age group (past 50) who has handiwork of their own to display, is asked to bring them to the youth center in the afternoon so that they may be arranged and displayed to the best advantage.

These articles, the product of spare time diversion of people eligible for membership in the club, are certain to be widely varied and an incentive to others who may perhaps find time heavy on their hands.

Added interest to the display and a suggestion for use of spare time may be derived from the display of lampshades by Mrs. Bertha LaChapelle, who will have active charge of the meeting.

Earl Chilcote Of Harris Dies

Earl Chilcote, 79, a long time resident of Harris, passed away today at 5 a. m. at St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital, Menominee, where he had been a medical patient for the past month.

Born March 4, 1875 in Marshall, Mich., he came to the Harris community in 1895. During his lifetime, he was employed as a stone mason, brick layer and lumber cook. He was unmarried. Mr. Chilcote was a member of St. George's Church.

Friends may call at the Boyle Funeral Home, Bark River, after 10 a. m. Thursday.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. at St. George's Church with Rev. Charles Carmody officiating. Burial will be made in Bark River Cemetery.

The parish rosary will be recited Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

Former Escanaban Dies In Elgin, Ill

Mrs. Earl Hansen, 50, a former Escanaba resident, died suddenly Saturday at her home in Elgin, Ill. Mrs. Hansen was the former Georgia Jorgensen.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Richard; a sister, Mrs. Arthur Jacobson of Elgin, and four brothers, Chris of Pontiac, Charles and Andrew of California and John of Escanaba.

Funeral services will be held at Elgin.

Judgment Favoring Rex Stowe Given In Circuit Court

A judgment of $326.20 was granted Rex Stowe, of Gladstone against Walter Kreshesky, also of that city, in a case tried before Glenn Jackson in circuit court Tuesday afternoon.

The judge took the case under advisement and rendered his decision this morning.

Also in Tuesday afternoon's session, Judge Jackson dismissed six more cases in which no progress has been made in the past year.

A number of divorce cases are still to be heard before the court turns to the trial of the jury cases on the docket.

Take Applications For Rapid River Post Office Clerk

The substitute clerk examination is presently open for filing applications for the Rapid River post office. Applications may be obtained at the post office and filed until July 12. The civil service commission has changed the test effective June 1, 1954; more eligibles are expected under the modified test.

Competitors who have taken the test previously and failed to pass are invited to file applications to take it again. Those who have already passed or failed to pass the old test may refile until July 12 and take the new test if they wish, although this is not necessary if they have already passed.

Persons who have previous eligible ratings and who retake the new examination will be placed on registers with highest rating obtained in either of the tests.

27 To Graduate At Rapid River

RAPID RIVER—Twenty seven seniors of the Rapid River High School will be graduated Friday night at commencement exercises at Rapid River. The program will begin at 8.

Dr. E. C. Beck of Central Michigan College of Education, Mt. Pleasant, will be the commencement speaker. His subject will be "Your Diploma and You."

Dr. Beck spoke to the graduates of the Class of 1950 in Rapid River and was very popular with the students and their friends. He is an authority on Upper Michigan history and has been president of the Michigan Education Association.

The class night program was held Tuesday night. Among the honor awards made were the following:

Michigan regents alumni scholarship, Gail Rushford; Michigan State College scholarship, Vera Holmlund; Northern Michigan College scholarship, Mary Ethel Hayes.

Board of Education trophy, all around boy, Roger Brannstrom; Board of Education trophy, all around girl, Vera Holmlund; Lions Club trophy, outstanding senior, Gail Rushford; Robert W. Miller memorial scholarship, Gail Rushford.

Roger Brannstrom and Waldon Johnson were presented with three year basketball awards and John Paul Young received a three year student manager award. Track letters were presented to Wesley Anderson and John Whybren.

Student Council pins were won by Roger Brannstrom, senior

Aged Man Found Making Home At Local City Dump

Homer Goodell, 72, a farm laborer who has been in this area for several months, is being held at the county jail on a vagrancy charge.

State police of Gladstone took the aged man in charge yesterday afternoon while checking up on reports that he was living at the city dump. They found the aged man there using the body of an old car for sleeping quarters and learned that he had been subsisting on stale bread and contents of tin cans.

Out of work and out of funds, he said he chose to live at the dump until "something turned up."

His case is being further investigated and he will likely be offered quarters in some convalescent home.

Walleye Opening:

Outlook Fair But Lamprey Devices Prevent Spawning

Prospects for the Bay de Noc walleye season opening here Friday, May 21, are fair to poor (depending on the fishermen's ability and his knowledge of local waters) and the long-range view is increasingly disheartening.

Five or six years ago there was an abundance of walleyes on Big and Little Bay de Noc. Commercial fishermen moved in and controversy developed between commercial and sports fishermen.

Hundreds of thousands of pounds of walleyes were netted and the hook and liners set up a howl heard in the Michigan legislature. This resulted in laws setting aside several areas in both bays where commercial fishing is prohibited.

Few On Spawning Beds

Now local conservationists are again up in arms—this time in connection with the effect on spawning walleyes of electronic lamprey control devices established on local streams by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Conservation officers who patrol the Whitefish River, principal walleye spawning grounds at the head of Little Bay de Noc, report there are fewer walleyes on the grounds this year than last. Why? Because the fish are prevented from reaching the spawning beds by the electric shock in the water from the lamprey control devices.

"This is a ticklish problem," said one officer, who asked not to be identified. "The walleyes come up from the bay to spawn in the rapids about five miles up streams. But about three miles up is the electronic field of the lamprey device and the fish are thrown back by it. They can't get through. The only way would be to lift the fish over manually—and that isn't being done."

Spawners Cannot Pass

The problem is "ticklish" because conservationists are on record as favoring the program of lamprey control to save Great Lakes fish. Yet if lamprey control means that the prized walleye is prevented from reaching the spawning beds on the rivers—well, the walleyes days are numbered.

To the sports fishermen who prize Bay de Noc walleyes above any other fish, the prospect is definitely alarming. The lamprey cure may be worse on the walleyes than the lamprey infestation, they say.

Unless some means is found to pass the spawning walleyes over the electronic field in streams entering Bays de Noc, the walleye population will tumble—fast. While the Whitefish and Rapid Rivers are considered the principal walleye spawning streams in the area, every major Bay de Noc stream has been "blocked" by the lamprey shockers.

Prospects Fair

The electronic devices are located on both the Whitefish and Rapid, and on the Days, Sturgeon, Squaw, Tacoosh and Days Rivers. This leaves the walleyes no choice except to spawn in the bays, where mortality on young fish is much higher.

But the prospects are fair to good for the season opening Friday, and fishermen will find boats and guides available to take them to the best fishing grounds. Regulations are the same as last year: Length 13 inches minimum, limit of 10 walleyes in one day—or not more than 10 of walleyes and northern pike in the aggregate if you fish for both.

Last year was improved over the year before. Walleye population is picking up—but fishermen are worried about those new lamprey controls and their effect on the future crop.

Fishing Party At Manistique Lake Gets Cold Ducking

NEWBERRY—Three men were rescued from Big Manistique Lake about 1:21 p. m. Sunday after their boat overturned.

The three are: James Taylor, 54, Paul H. Reeb, 54, and George Wilson, 46, of Sylvania, Ohio. They were rescued by George Johnson of Manitou Beach, and Ronald Baker of Addison who were fishing on the lake and heard cries for help.

The rescuing party brought the three men to shore where they entered the Robert Sayles cabin for warm blankets. Reeb was taken to the Tahquamenon General Hospital for observation and later released, according to Michigan State Police.

This Is The Time For Spring Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up

THIS is Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week in Escanaba, a time for home owners and tenants to get their property in tip top shape for the year ahead.

Keeping our property—and our community—clean is an important duty. It is conducive to health, happiness and comfort. It gives us a sense of pride in ownership and a sense of civic responsibility. It pays off, too, in increased value of our property and it pays off in community spirit.

Does your house need painting? This is the best time of the year to do it—before the flies and mosquitoes arrive in summer hordes. Or perhaps it's the interior of the house that needs renovating.

How's your lawn or garden? Need more landscaping? You'll never find a better time to do this work than now, the start of the summer season.

While you're at it, check your attic and your basement for fire hazards. Get rid of that winter's accumulation of debris. Ditto for the backyard and the alley.

This is Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week. Your neighbor is tackling the job at his home. How about you?

Political Speeches

Ruled Out At Fair

THIS is an election year and fair time—Aug. 24-29 this year—is in the midst of the election campaign.

With that thought in mind, perhaps, and in recollection of past years when political candidates commanded considerable platform time at the U. P. State Fair, the board of managers this year has adopted a new rule in the protection of their patrons. No political candidates, excepting the governor on Governor's Day, will be invited to make platform appearances at the fair.

Whether the new rule will work out successfully depends, we believe, on the governor himself. Governor's Day has been a tradition at the Upper Peninsula State Fair and the occasion is primarily in honor of the office, rather than the individual who may at any given year be occupying the office.

In other words if Governor Williams avoids politics in his appearance on the platform at the Upper Peninsula State Fair on Governor's Day, no one can logically criticize the action of the board of managers in restricting platform appearances of political candidates at the fair.

But if the governor takes advantage of the opportunity reserved for him and uses his platform appearance for a political speech in an election year, the Republican politicians will have ample cause for protesting a rule that bars them from equal opportunity.

Gov. Williams is too smart a politician, we suspect, to permit himself to become involved in a situation wherein he could be the target of attack based upon a charge of unfairness in the campaign rules. Or, to put it another way, we think the governor will carefully avoid politics in his appearance at the U. P. State Fair this year in view of the new policy adopted by the board of managers.

TAX OPPOSITION (Ironwood Daily Globe)

The overwhelming defeat of the storm sewer bond issue proposal was not surprising nor was it unexpected.

Times have changed since the early twenties, when Ironwood voters had no hesitation voting a couple of million in bond issues for public projects, including the Memorial building, viaduct, sewers, news high school, and others.

The philosophy then was "let the mining companies pay," for in those days the mines paid the major portion of taxes. The situation is different now—the bigger share of the tax burden now falls on the home owner and business. People are reluctant in these days of heavy taxes—federal and local—to vote added obligations on themselves.

The storm sewer proposal, particularly, had little general appeal. Most people feel sorry for the home owner whose basement is flooded when sewer water backs up, but the sufferers are in the minority and public sympathy apparently doesn't extend to spending $300,000 to correct the situation.

It is not likely that the school auditorium proposition would meet with any better response, in view of the results of the election. The public is not in a mood to spend when the expenditure means higher taxes.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republican, made a speech on the senate floor the other day which did not get too much attention in the press, but which did get a lot of attention among his colleagues. What he said was that when he viewed the McCarthy-Army hearings and certain senate "investigative" tactics, "the public good might be served if the senate could find a hole into which all its members could crawl."

It happens that Senator Hendrickson is in an excellent position to talk about the McCarthy investigation. Because for two years he sat on an investigating committee which patiently and painstakingly sifted evidence regarding McCarthy himself, his bank records, his concealed speculating activities, the money he received to fight Communism, the way he used some of that money for his own personal gain.

In the end Hendrickson and colleagues wrote the most damning report ever produced on a fellow senator, only to have it gather dust in the files of Attorney General Brownell.

So it can be understood why Hendrickson feels like crawling into a hole when he now sees the kid-glove treatment, the careful consideration and gracious courtesies given to this same senator he investigated.

REPORT IS SCARCE

The McCarthy report which Senator Hendrickson helped write two years ago was not well publicized in the press at the time. And shortly after McCarthy's friend, Senator Jenner of Indiana, became new head of the rules committee with jurisdiction over the government printing office, it became impossible to buy copies of the dynamite-laden report. They simply disappeared. The government printing office will tell you they are out of stock, and a copy at a second-hand bookstore is worth a small fortune.

However, I happen to have one of the first copies printed, and from it are taken the following interesting highlights of Joseph R. McCarthy's strange financial tangle:

Prior to McCarthy's campaign against Communism, he was in constant hot water with his bank, the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis. At one time in 1946 he owed the bank $170,029.03. Though this had been reduced by varying amounts, the senate committee's investigation clearly showed that McCarthy's financial problems vanished after he started his campaign against Communism.

The senate committee also raised doubts as to whether money given him to fight Communism was not used for the senator's own pocketbook interest instead.

The report showed, for instance, that McCarthy's bank deposits at the Riggs National Bank where he banked in Washington, together with the deposits of his assistant, Ray Kiermas, "increased contemporaneously with the advent of McCarthy's fight to expose Communism."

JOE'S DEPOSITS ZOOM

In four years, 1948-1952, the committee reported McCarthy deposited $172,623.18 in the Riggs Bank, while assistant Ray Kiermas deposited $97,921.26. During this same period, McCarthy's senate salary was only $50,000.

Of this $172,623.18, the senate noted, $19,000 of McCarthy's deposits were in cash, while $59,592.52 were from "unidentified sources." During the same period, the cash deposits of Ray Kiermas totaled $29,230, most of which was in amounts over $300.

The senate committee went to a lot of work to track down part of this money. It found that some of it came from people who said they didn't care how McCarthy spent it, but much came from people who definitely expected him to spend their money to fight Communism.

Frank Porter, president of the Fair-Porter Drilling Co., of Oklahoma City, was one who told senate investigators he placed "no strings" on the $500 he gave McCarthy.

On the other hand, Craig Sheaffer, president of Sheaffer Pens, who later served as Eisenhower's assistant secretary of commerce and resigned after the Dr. Astin-Bureau of Standards row, gave $1,000 because of McCarthy's "fight against Communism." Various other givers attached the same strings, causing the senate committee to comment: "the money should have been deposited as a trust fund."

But the contrary happened. Instead, the committee found, there was "no connection between many of the disbursements from this account and any possible anti-Communist campaign."

Specifically McCarthy used this fund given him by the public to pay $73.80 on his own income taxes; $1,300 to give Ray Kiermas when his bank account was low; another check for $200 when another bank account was overdrawn; and $500 to speculate on the soybean market.

The soybean speculation was one of the most brazen uses of anti-Communist funds cited by the senate committee. The money used by McCarthy to attempt to enrich his own pocket included $500 taken from his "general" bank account into which anti-Communist money had been deposited; plus $7,000 and $3,000 loaned him by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bentley.

Mr. Bentley, now congressman from Michigan, badly wounded by a Puerto Rican, told committee investigators his money was advanced for the purpose of fighting Communism, and he would be disappointed if McCarthy "had used it for gambling or to advance his personal financial condition."

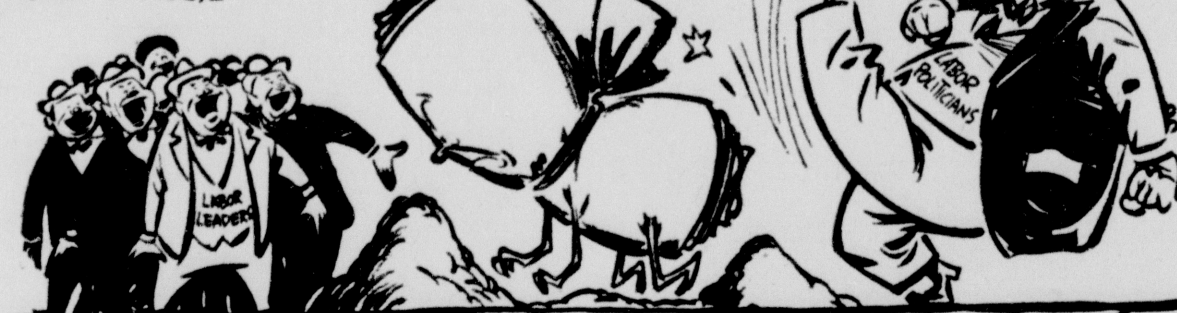

Questions and Answers

Q—My son enlisted in the regular Army last year. They say he can't vote in his home state of Texas and I want to know why.

A—Texas is the only state that does not allow members of the regular military establishments to vote, although it permits voting by draftees and reservists. Laws in several states make it difficult for servicemen to vote by absentee ballot. New Mexico permits no absentee voting by members of the armed forces and some states permit no absentee voting in primaries. President Eisenhower has asked Congress to cooperate with the states in making it easier for servicemen stationed overseas to vote in November.

Fingerprints Of Molecules Now Being Recorded By FBI

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The FBI is now "fingerprinting" molecules.

It's being done by a complicated new device known as the recording infrared spectrophotometer.

Here's a sample of the kind of job it is doing to apprehend criminals:

Police in Vermont had been called in to investigate reports of cash being stolen periodically from a drawer in a store. First investigations revealed nothing. Then one of the detectives decided to smear a substance which could barely be seen on some of the bills.

In a few days some of the marked bills had been stolen. Meantime the police had kept watch on the drawer and were able to narrow the list of suspects down to a very few persons.

Finally the billfold of the prime suspect, along with a sample of the special substance planted on the bills, were sent to the FBI lab for comparison. Sure enough, the spectrophotometer quickly identified the substance used for marking as the same substance found in the suspect's billfold.

It clinched the case against the thief, proving that the marked bills had gotten from the cash drawer into his billfold.

The FBI has had similar devices, which analyzed bits of materials, for many years. The new feature of this spectrophotometer is that it produces a graph which is the "fingerprint" of the actual molecular structure of a substance. And for most purposes of crime detection, the molecular structure is practically as individualistic as a human fingerprint.

The device also has the very special ability to give positive identification of clear substances such as the newer plastics, plus being able to permit minute examinations of organic substances such as drugs, rubber and petroleum products. It was developed by the Perkin-Elmer Corp. of Norwalk, Conn.

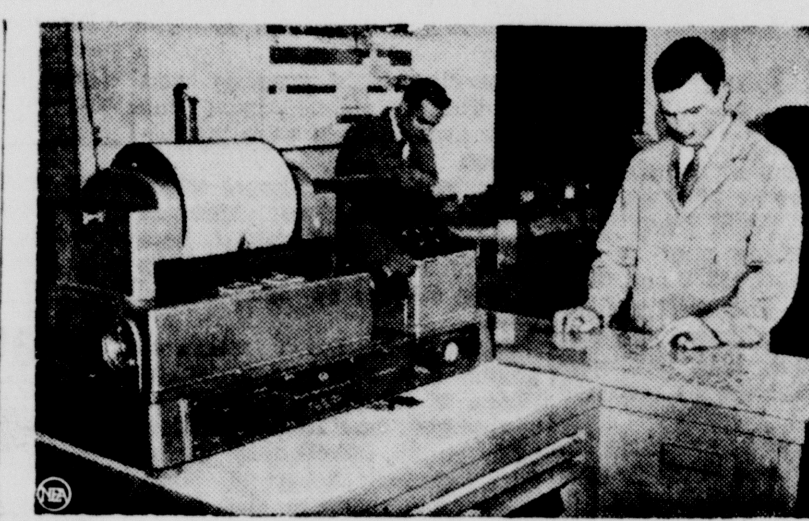

Still another advantage of the machine is its ability to give an identification of the tiniest quantity of a substance.

The full capabilities of the new spectrophotometer were recently called into use in connection with the mysterious death of a child on the west coast. Investigation of local police revealed that two other children in the family had died under similar circumstances. However, autopsies had revealed nothing suspicious in either case.

After the death of the third child the autopsy was handled differently. All internal substances were shipped to the FBI lab. This collection was first put through a steam distillation process in which laboratory examiners isolated an extremely small amount of a strange oily liquid.

Next, the liquid was placed in the spectrophotometer and identified as methyl salicylate, a volatile poison commonly known as oil of wintergreen. Because of the small amount of the poison and its unusual structure it's not likely that it could have been identified without the new spectrophotometer.

Previous devices used to identify materials could not go beyond the range of visible colors. The "fingerprint" they produced was limited to a combination of only the colors in the rainbow.

TRACKING DOWN A MOLECULE: At FBI Laboratory in Washington, examiners take "fingerprints" of chemical substances with the recording infrared spectrophotometer (foreground).

It made the examination of clear or colorless materials practically impossible.

The new molecular fingerprint gives identification with infrared portions of the spectrum not visible to the human eye.

One of the first cases solved by the new spectrophotometer involved steady stealing from a warehouse. In the attempt to catch the crooks a fine powder which glows only under ultraviolet light was sprinkled over a batch of tinned meat.

Some time later some of the meat was stolen and a suspect nabbed. His clothing was placed under an ultraviolet light and the powder glowed. Normally this evidence would at least convince police of guilt. But it might not be good enough evidence as proof of guilt in court.

The spectrophotometer, however, went the necessary step further to make the case stand up in court. It identified the powder through its molecular "fingerprint" as identical to that which had been dusted on the cans by the detectives.

Nation's Most Popular Bird Is The Cardinal

WASHINGTON — Sentiment usually plays the major role in selection of state birds, but it bowed to reality in a recent Rhode Island contest. The Rhode Island red hen, noted for its succulence and egg-laying ability, walked off with the honor in a statewide election.

The commercially popular red hen polled 1,500 more votes than its closest rival, the hummingbird. The osprey, bobwhite and to-whoe finished far behind. A total of 20,783 votes was cast.

Thus the nation's two smallest states have now decided on a barnyard fowl as the official bird, says the National Geographic Society. In 1939, Delaware picked the blue hen, renowned in colonial days for its cock-fighting progeny.

Kentucky Was First

Choosing a state bird is a modern custom. Kentucky initiated the practice in 1926 when it selected the cardinal. Similar campaigns, sponsored by women's clubs, Audubon societies and nature groups were soon begun in a half-dozen other states.

Today the cardinal is the nation's most popular bird. Seven states have chosen it. Runner-up with six titles is the meadowlark. The mockingbird has been honored by five states, the bluebird and goldfinch by four apiece, and the robin by three. Thirty-five states have passed their selections into law.

Citizens of several states have delved into history for their bird representatives.

Thinking back to 1848, residents of landlocked Utah named the sea gull as their favorite. In May of that year, vital wheatlands planted by early pioneers were attacked by huge swarms of crickets.

Men, women and children vainly battled the pests. Suddenly, from the islands of Great Salt Lake appeared thousands of gulls. They gorged themselves on the invaders and saved the wheat.

A grateful people erected a monument to the gull in Salt Lake City, and the bird is protected by state law.

"In Memoriam" Because it recalled nostalgic memories, the yellowhammer woodpecker, or flicker as it is commonly called, was adopted by Alabama in 1927.

A fighting unit of young Alabamians nicknamed themselves "Yellowhammers" during the Civil War, and marched into action with flicker feathers in their caps.

Alabama is the only state to select a woodpecker. Louisiana, the only seacoast state to choose a sea bird, picked the big brown pelican. Even though it has the longest coastline of any state, Florida selected the land-loving mockingbird. California turned to its own valley quail.

Pennsylvania's ruffed grouse and South Dakota's ring-necked pheasant are the only other game birds to rate official adoption.

Notable omissions in the list of state birds include the whippoorwill, the catbird, and such beauties as the scarlet tanager and waxwing. Starlings and English sparrows have been bypassed, too.

Three years ago the Minnesota senate passed a bill naming the loon as state bird. Perhaps fearing jokesters, the legislators reconsidered and killed the motion a few days later.

Good Evening...

OUT OF THE PAST—In Egypt and other countries around the Mediterranean Sea archaeologists have been busily digging into the past for several centuries. Their discoveries of early civilizations go back thousands of years.

And where do they dig? Into what was once the tombs and graveyards, the refuse heaps and "village dumps" of those earlier days.

In America the antiquarians are learning about the home life of the Indian and his predecessors by digging into burial mounds, where the Indians had a habit of placing tools and weapons to accompany the deceased on his journey to the spirit world.

The history of Delta County is relatively new, yet there are several old cemeteries in the area, long abandoned, where toppling headstones and graves overgrown by brush are mute evidence of the resting place of our pioneers.

FORGOTTEN ONES—Most of the abandoned cemeteries are in "ghost town" locations.

On the shore of Big Bay de Noc, south of what was once the thriving mill town of Ogontz, is a cemetery whose graves are surrounded by rude and rotting pickets. Sand blows from the shore, engulfing some of the wooden crosses and markers.

Some people say this cemetery was once an Indian burial ground, that the Indians brought their dead here from as far distant as Nahma and the Garden Peninsula.

Another abandoned cemetery is located at Garth. Here scrub oak flourishes, in summer almost hiding the tipping headstones with their leaves. Once a humming mill town, Garth is now a name signifying a summer resort.

Whether the old Garth cemetery is owned by the township or is in private hands I do not know. But it could be a point of interest for sightseers if it were fenced and the brush cleared away.

BEND IN THE RIVER—Beside a little-used side road, obscured by long grass, and lulled by the sad whisper of the wind in towering pine trees, the old Ford River cemetery is known to only a few persons.

It occupies a level area high on a sand bluff at a bend of the river, some two miles upstream from the highway bridge.

There are perhaps 50 or 60 burials here. Some of the graves are surrounded by fences, but most are not. Occasionally there will be a grave that shows signs of loving care in recent years, and flowers that have been planted many years ago creep outward toward the sunlight from beneath the pines.

Through the years the eroding river has cut away the ground and a few of the skeletons have tumbled from their coffins and down the sandy slope into the water. Perhaps they are the bones of rivermen who once danced across the logs as they floated down to Ford River Mills in spring-time drives.

OLD AND NEW—Some of Delta County's oldest settlements are still using the "old" cemeteries and the grounds are well cared for.

Kates Bay on the Garden Peninsula, a community settled in 1852, has a neat and orderly little cemetery; Sack Bay south of Fayette on the Garden Peninsula, whose history dates back 100 years, is still using the "old" cemetery which is well maintained.

Garden has a "new" and an "old" cemetery, and there is an old cemetery south of Fayette which has been virtually abandoned.

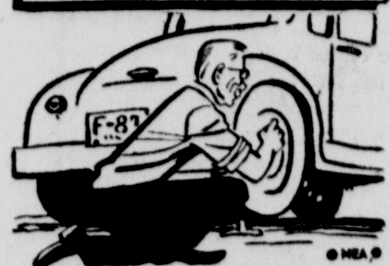

Perhaps there are many other old cemeteries in the county that have long ago been lost to the memory of all except those "oldtimers" who have lived in the area for many years.

According to legend there was once a cemetery in the area of Misery Bay south of Escanaba on the shore of Green Bay.

Old Flat Rock's cemetery was high on a hill in what is now Pioneer Trail Park. Restored some 20 years ago, vandals have destroyed the fence and carried off many of the headstones.

And Escanaba once had a cemetery in what was then Northtown, a cemetery that was abandoned when Lakeview was established. Many of the bodies were moved for reburial, but some were never taken up and occasionally were exposed when water mains or sewer lines were extended into that area.

UNCLE EF

Folks who got through the winter and spring pretty well with their chronic complaints now have to think of some new summer ones to make them happy.

The Doctor Says...

Beware Of Self Diagnosis Based Only On Reading

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

When I was a boy, I was crossing a brook one day on a fallen log and tumbled into the water.

That evening all the signs of a bad cold began to develop, and I was properly scolded and warned by my father of the dangers of catching cold from falling in the water!

The next day my skin broke out in a gorgeous rash. I had the measles. Thereafter my father was fond of telling the story as a typical example of mistaken diagnosis.

There are two aspects of this unimportant incident to which I should like to draw my readers' attention. The first is that an event or accident is not always responsible for the physical symptoms which develop thereafter.

It is true that if one is in an automobile accident and breaks a leg there is a definite cause and effect; it is not always true, however, that the development of some symptom, such as indigestion or what appears to be indigestion, is the result of a particular food.

Physicians must always be alert to the possibility that something which appears to be the cause of some physical symptom coming thereafter may really have nothing to do with it.

THE SECOND POINT is perhaps even more important. The symptoms which a person has often can develop from any one of several different underlying conditions. For example, a nosebleed can come from being hit on the nose, from an ulcer in the nose, from high blood pressure or from several other things, some of which are important and some not.

The same thing applies to other symptoms, such as headache, loss of weight, digestive upsets and almost anything else you can name.

THE PARTICULAR reason this is important is that people who have only a little knowledge (or read one of these columns and learn about the symptoms of some particular disease) may jump to the conclusion that because they have the same symptoms they have the disease being discussed.

Sometimes I have been alarmed by letters written to me indicating that the reader of a column has diagnosed a disease in himself or herself because the symptoms were similar to those mentioned.

This is by no means a safe conclusion, and I hope that in the future readers will realize that symptoms must be studied in the light of physical findings and laboratory tests, all interpreted on the basis of years of medical study.

List Of Jobless High, Says AFL

CHICAGO (AP)—The AFL executive council says there are more than 5 1/2 million workers unemployed and "the figure is growing and will continue to grow if something isn't done to stem the recession immediately."

Predicting "a continuing trend of unemployment," the council asked that the Eisenhower administration "take its head out of the sand, recognize the serious problem, and do something about it."

The figure on unemployment was made in a statement by the council, the AFL's policy-making group, which is holding its spring conference here.

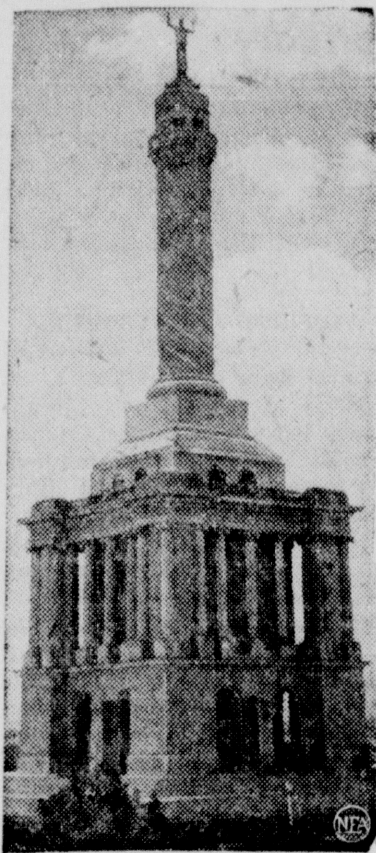

Government figures on the number of unemployed total about 5 1/2 million.

George Meany, AFL president, said at a news conference that President Eisenhower should immediately call a conference of labor, business, and "everybody concerned to discuss the recession."

New X-Ray Microscope Photographs Viruses

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP)—Objects too minute to be spotted by optical or even electronic microscopes now can be seen with the aid of an "X-ray microscope" developed by physicist Burton L. Henke at Pomona College.

The shape and habits of viruses, protein molecules and other objects in the millionth of an inch category are being studied by Dr. Henke under a grant from the Air Force's office of scientific research, the college reported.

Dr. Henke uses a beam of "soft" X-rays, which come from that region of the spectrum which lies between ultraviolet light and conventional X-rays of the kind used in a dentist's office.

"In contrast with conventional X-rays," Dr. Henke explained, "the remarkable property of soft X-radiation is that it is very rapidly absorbed or scattered by matter. In fact, to these rays the very thinnest of paper is almost completely opaque."

This "weak" beam of X-rays is projected through a thin sample of material, such as a virus. The rays are so weak that when they strike the virus they are deflected from their course, like a stream of water when it hits your hand. The stream of rays fans out and strikes a photographic film, forming a tremendously enlarged image of the object which it has struck. Some of the rays penetrate through the object and travel on to hit the film. Still others cause the object they strike to become fluorescent and give off rays themselves.

All this takes place in a vacuum. Dr. Henke explained that the rays are so weak that they would be absorbed by atmosphere.

On the film are "photographs" of virus and other submicroscopic objects enlarged sufficiently to be studied with the unaided eye.

Name Similarity Caused Headaches

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The two Frank Hartenstines who live here didn't mind having the same name too much until Uncle Sam's tax collectors began to confuse the issue.

It seems one Hartenstine got the other's tax bill. The matter was finally straightened out when the two men, both natives of Pottstown and about the same age, took joint action to convince the revenue department there were really two Frank Hartenstines.

The Hartenstines said they have gotten to know each other quite well settling similar difficulties with other bill collectors.

Public Hearing On Budget Set For Thursday

Public hearing on the proposed Escanaba city budget for 1954-55 will be held as a part of the City Council session starting at 8 p. m. Thursday in City Hall with Mayor Harlan Yelland presiding.

The total budget amounts to $1,655,278 and is $63,891 above the budget approved last year.

Greatest portion of the increase is reflected in increased capital outlay. It is reported by City Manager A. V. Aronson. Notable increases were for local street, retirement of parking meter payments, retirement of water plant bonds, and additions to the electric distribution system to meet expanding needs.

Tax Rate Down

City operating budgets are very much the same as last year except for increases in the cost of personal services due to salary increments, premium pay for police and fire employees, and provisions for possible pay increases.

In spite of the total budget increase, however, personal and property taxes have been reduced from $15.69 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $14.96 per thousand. The street maintenance tax has been eliminated.

In other business the Council will open bids for pipe for water mains, for fluoridation machine to be installed in the city water plant, and for paving asphalt and emulsion for the 1954 paving program.

Courtesy Tickets

The Council will further consider the purchase of land for a new electric substation; and give second reading to an ordinance transferring excess revenues to the waterfront development fund.

It will give further consideration to the consideration of the issuance of courtesy tickets to visitors for overtime parking.

First reading will be given an appropriation ordinance, an ordinance to implement the 1954-55 budget. A recommendation from the Civil Service Commission regarding salary increases for city employees will be considered; and there will be consideration of a proposal to change the first increment of police patrolman's salary range.

Street Paving

Appointments will be made to the board of appeals and to the citizens safety advisory committee. Hiring of an architect for the proposed Karas Memorial Bandshell will be discussed.

Consideration will be given a proposal to install a water main at Sylvan Point; and a date will be set for hearing of objections to the following blacktop street paving improvements:

15th Ave. N., Stephenson to Washington; 19th Ave. S., 8th Ave. to 9th Ave.; 16th Ave. N., Sheridan to Stephenson; 15th Ave. N., Sheridan to Stephenson; 20th St. N., 14th Ave. to ore docks; 15th St. S., 10th to 11th Avenues; 18th Ave. S., Lake Shore Drive to Grand Ave.; 19th St. N., 12th Ave. to 13th Ave.; 11th Ave. S., 15th to 16th St.; 7th Ave. S., 13th to 14th St.; and 17th to 20th St.; 18th St. S., 7th to 8th Ave.; 23rd St. N., 12th to 14th Ave.

Deadlock Tiahtens At Geneva Over Peace In Indochina

American intervention in Indochina.

By JHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that it might be possible to form a united front against communism in Southeast Asia without the participation of Britain.

Eisenhower told a news conference — when asked whether the United States would act without Britain — that it depends on the attitude of the proper Asiatic nations and Australia and New Zealand.

The United States, he went on, might possibly work out something. He said it may not be as broad and satisfactory as one would wish for, but that it could be worked out.

It was the first time a top U. S. official had publicly conceded a serious possibility of moving forward on the proposed anti-Communist alliance, through which the United States could intervene in the Indochina War, without the active co-operation and full support of the British government.

British policy at present is devoted entirely to trying to work out a negotiated settlement of the Indochina fight at the Geneva conference.

Eisenhower also made clear to the news conference that some kind of collective action must be the basis of anti-Communist measures in Southeast Asia. The implication was plain that he would not even consider single-handed American intervention.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Motorist Crashes Into Parked Cars; Ticketed By Police

Frank J. Beaudry, 48, of 1302 Ludington St., was ticketed early today by Escanaba police for failure to report an accident and leaving the scene of an accident after Beaudry's car crashed into two parked cars in the 1500 block, Ludington.

Escanaba police reported that Beaudry was driving on the wrong side of the street at the time of the accident, 2:47 a. m. He was ticketed at 3:50 a. m. at his home. He paid a fine of $25.00 and costs in court.

Damaged were cars owned by Manley Anderson, 1513 Ludington, $300; Dick Schram, 1509 Ludington, $200; and Beaudry's car, $400, according to estimates by police.

Escaped Marquette Prison Trusties Soon Returned

MARQUETTE—Two trusties who fled honor institutions Saturday evening were back in custody in the Marquette Prison Monday, one of them voluntarily and the other surrendering to state police without a struggle.

They were the first "walk-away" incidents of the year at the prison, and neither was regarded as being serious. A brief search was conducted for the pair.

The trusties who left their honor posts without permission are Boyce Chester Langley, 53, cook at the outside dormitory near the prison, and Forrest Thorpe, 25, trusty at the Honor Camp, about six miles southeast of the prison.

Trap Nets In Bay Bring $50 Fine

Hans Gudner of 1519 Ludington yesterday pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of setting trap nets in a restricted area of Green Bay and paid a fine of $50 and costs.

Gudner was arrested on complaint of conservation officers who reported that Gudner's nets were set in an area of the bay restricted to nets between April 15 and May 20. The nets were discovered by officers aboard the conservation department's fish patrol boat.

Secrecy Order Won't Shut Off McCarthy Inquiry

cross that bridge when we come to it."

Stevens issued his statement at the Pentagon, starting it out: "I wish to make it perfectly plain that the decisions and the acts on the part of the Army concerning the controversy presently being heard by the Senate subcommittee were the decisions and the acts of the defense of the Army alone."

Stevens went on to repeat his charges that McCarthy and his aides brought improper pressures for preferential Army treatment of Pvt. G. David Schine, drafted former consultant to the McCarthy subcommittee.

He named McCarthy, Roy Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, and Francis P. Carr, staff director of the subcommittee.

Then Stevens added: "I am convinced that the Army had no other honorable course than to bring those acts which I consider improper to the attention of the United States Senate."

"No meeting or conference influenced my decision. . . ."

When the hearings were recessed, Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) was given the assignment of determining whether Eisenhower would relax or interpret his order barring testimony about the Jan. 21 conference.

Situation Claimed
With that in mind, Mundt and Special Counsel Ray K. Jenkins made a luncheon engagement today with Atty. Gen. Brownell.

The Eisenhower-Stevens pronouncements obviously, however, altered the situation, leaving little for the luncheon table discussion.

Commenting before the statement was issued, Mundt said if Stevens said the Army charges were made on his own authority, rather than that of higher officials, it would "minimize the importance" of the Jan. 21 conference.

Mundt said this would put the meeting in a somewhat different light, but he indicated the subcommittee members still might have some questions about it.

At the Justice Department, after lunching with Brownell, Mundt told reporters he would have nothing further to say until he talked with fellow members of the investigations subcommittee later this afternoon.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), a subcommittee member, said he believes the hearings will and should be resumed Monday despite the President's statement that he will not withdraw his order.

Eisenhower said his, 3rd graf 62.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Railroads forged ahead today into the early afternoon and accounted for most of the strength in the stock market.

Gains in the railroads went to around two points at the outside. Elsewhere the market was fractions higher to around a point lower with minus signs holding the upper hand in many major divisions.

Business was at a pace around two million shares. The total Tuesday was two and a quarter million.

Steels were ahead with the railroads as were the farm implements, and many oils.

A lot of minus signs were showing in motors, aircrafts, chemicals, utilities, tobaccos and electronics issues.

U.S. government bonds were higher.

MARQUETTE — W. M. Whitman, superintendent of Marquette public schools for the past 34 years, will retire from that office next July 1. Paulist Fathers Conduct Mission At St. Patrick's

Father Farrell

A dialog mission by two Paulist Fathers of Detroit will be conducted at St. Patrick's Church Sunday, May 23, to Friday, May 28, with services every evening at 7:30 o'clock. Msgr. M. B. Melican, pastor of St. Patrick's, announced.

Father John F. Ritzius, C.S.P., one of the missionaries has been active in Catholic Information Center work, both in New York City and Grand Rapids, Mich. The other missionary, Father J. A. Farrell, C.S.P., did parish work in Minneapolis, Los Angeles and Monnet, Mo., before becoming a member of the Paulist mission band in Detroit.

In a dialog mission, according to Msgr. Melican, one missionary gives utterance to the questions, objections and criticism that might come from a non-Catholic. The other missionary provides the Catholic answer and explanation.

The missionaries will deal especially with the more controversial aspects of Catholic belief. Thus both Catholics and non-Catholics, who will be welcomed, will have a chance to know this faith as it really is, rather than as it is often misrepresented.

PATTERN 319

The dowel-pins used as joinings add a decorative note to this magazine stand. The rubbed edges and oil finish supply the charm that belongs to fine hand-crafted furniture. Note the handle for carrying to where it is most needed. The top shelf gives the added usefulness of a small table. The pattern provides for tracing the curves of the end members, and the scalloped front directly onto the wood. If you do not have a power saw for cutting these curves, better trace them onto your material and have this done for you. The cost of the pattern is 25c. Include $1. additional and receive the Useful Tables and Stands Packet containing over twenty — two hundred square inches of tracing drawings and directions.

Next Few Weeks To Be Crystal Ball For Steel Industry

By SAM DAWSON
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The steel industry looks on the next few weeks as its crystal ball.

1. Bargaining began Tuesday with the C. I. O. United Steelworkers. That will settle the question of a strike or a threat of it would needle sales or of whether wage rates will rise and operating costs with them.

2. A recent flurry of orders has led many to believe that the first two weeks of May have been the low points reached and a turn-about in order—if it proves only a flurry, the industry will enter the dull summer season with its hopes transferred to fall.

3. The weeks just ahead should show much about the inventory adjustment. If it's about over, there should soon be an end to the price-cutting at the warehouse level, and to the selling of steel

Death Takes Last Child Of Pioneer Peninsula Explorer

DETROIT (AP)—Death has taken Mrs. Sarah (Zaidee) Hubbard Brooks, last surviving child of a pioneer Michigan explorer.

Mrs. Brooks, 90, was found dead in bed Monday at her apartment in the fashionable Hotel Whittier. Authorities said she apparently took an overdose of sleeping tablets. She left a note saying:

"I am old and so alone. Can't stand these changes. I try to be nice to the nurses, but..."

Her husband, Alanson S. Brooks, president of the Michigan Drug Co., died in 1926.

Mrs. Brooks was the youngest of eight children of Bela Hubbard, geologist and early explorer of Upper Michigan, and later a wealthy real estate dealer. Coming here from New York in 1835, Hubbard made several exploratory expeditions into the Upper Peninsula with Douglass Houghton, famous geologist and explorer.

After gaining his fortune in real estate, Hubbard built a palatial home in early Detroit. Active in civic affairs, he was credited with obtaining the first grant from the Legislature for construction of what now is Michigan State College.

Survivors include three nieces, Mrs. W. Goodenough, Grosse Pointe Farms, and Mrs. Grace Livingstone and Mary Jacobs, both of Del Mar, Calif. Funeral services will be held here Thursday.

by customers who found they had too much on hand. Prices, still holding at the mill, should turn firmer in the outside market.

Optimism for the long-term is strong here.

"We should soon be able to find out what normal peacetime steel demand is," a Pittsburgh official of U. S. Steel says. "Right now we don't know. We're sure that steel consumers, by living off inventories, are using more metal than we are producing or selling now. Just as we know that a year ago we were producing more steel than civilian demand called for."

All hands agree, however, that this year individual orders call for much smaller tonnage than those of former years. Customers are choosy and cautious.

As a basic industry — steel lists perhaps 40 per cent of U. S. manufacturing firms as customers.

Among bright spot in the steel picture are the mills in the Chicago area which report doing better than the national average, through competitive advantage by nearness to large markets.

Husband Confesses He Pulled Trigger Which Killed Wife

DETROIT (AP)—Hamtramck police said Joseph Logan admitted he pulled the trigger in the fatal shooting of his wife, Idell Joyce, whose body was found Sunday in a ditch on Detroit's northern outskirts.

Logan had first told police his wife had taken her own life and that he left her body in the ditch because he became panicky after the shooting.

Assistant Prosecutor William Coughlin said Logan changed his story Tuesday. Logan told police his wife pulled the trigger once but the gun didn't fire.

"Then I grabbed the gun and pulled it toward me across the table," Logan told Coughlin. "She held on and twisted it so it was aimed at her head. Then I pulled the trigger."

Legislators Kill New Prison Fund

LANSING (P)—The State Administrative Board, acting at the Senate's request, has revoked permission to spend $45,000 to plan a new 1,200-man prison.

This decision blocked Gov. Williams' attempt to get a new medium-security prison on the drawing boards.

The $45,000 was left over from a 1953 appropriation to survey a site for a 1,200-man prison at Ionia if the Corrections Commission approved.

Subsequently, the Legislature this year provided $100,000 to plan a 600-man prison at Ionia but failed to cancel the earlier grant.

Gov. Williams, objecting to the 600-man project, sought to use the 1953 money to plan an institution at some place other than Ionia but the Senate instructed the administrative board to cancel the release of the funds.

Williams objected that the board action was a backward step and that the Senate resolution had no binding effect. State Treasurer D. Hale Brake said the board felt bound to accept the Senate's decision.

Rev. Bassett Was Principal Speaker At Senior Banquet

GARDEN — Eighteen seniors attended the banquet given in their honor Thursday evening at the Garden Community Hall by the Garden Peninsula Lions club. The seniors were introduced by their superintendent, Ray Ranguette, after which King Lion Victor Borga introduced the evening's speaker, Father Ronald Bassett, who gave an inspirational talk to the group.

"An individual may advance in life according to his own desires, ambitions and abilities," he told the group, "and anyone telling you that you can't succeed without political or financial influence in giving you an erroneous impression."

He reminded the group that life on earth is very short compared to eternity and that regardless of church preference it should progress in life with that fact in mind. A person can build his life around the ten commandments without having a dull unpleasurable life, but a life passed in complete disregard of God's laws is not a happy nor a fruitful one, and it leaves the individual with nothing but fear with which to face eternity. A true earthly happiness is the contentment one feels when having done something to cause others joy.

Household Shower
Mrs. John Halvorson, the former Joyce Bonifas, was honored at a household shower given at the Garden Community hall Monday evening. Following games and lunch, Mrs. Halvorson opened her many gifts. Mrs. Reginald LaCost received the guest award.

Sixty guests attended the shower which was arranged by the Misses Nancy Guertin and Nadine Lester.
Out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Lucy Purtil, Mrs. Eugene Johnson Sr., Mrs. Art DeMars, Mrs. H. E. Hubbell, Mrs. Harold Snellenberger and Mrs. Alec LaLonde, Manistique; Mrs. Nick Bonifas, Mrs. Norman Morrison, Mrs. Arvid Sundin, Mrs. Gust Soderberg and Mrs. Isadore Bonifas, Isabella; Mrs. Louis McLeod, Mrs. Robert McLeod and Mrs. James Riese, Gladstone; Mrs. Eugene Grall, Mrs. Richard Barbeau and Mrs. William Thill, Fayette; Mrs. Fred Niese of Wenton and Mrs. Earl Parks, Grand Rapids.

The Old Gray Mare Defies Father Time

UXBRIDGE, Mass. (P)—Princess, 33-year-old mare owned by Mrs. Lillian Farnum Daigle, wouldn't stand still. Mrs. Daigle apologized:

"Princess always wants to be on the go once she's saddled and you ought to see her run in the corral. It's hard to believe she's so old, but my father bought her in 1926 at an auction in the Chicago stockyards. She was five years old."

Dr. Royce Simpson of the Angell Memorial Hospital in Boston says: "It's an exceptional age for a horse, even if it doesn't break any records." He says horses may live into the 40's. And the way Princess frisks and canters now, she may be heading for a record.

CUTTING CORNERS—This iron has a pivoting front point that enables the ironer to swing around corners, and reach parts of the garment which a conventional iron couldn't get to without changing position of clothing on the board. It was shown at an exhibition at Wiesbaden, Germany. The gadget is controlled by a twist of the handle.

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen

THE STORY: After using his savings to buy an old car to be transformed into a hot rod, Ricky Madison, 16, realizes he has made a bad bargain. So he gets a job to earn money to keep his car and makes a deal with the man who sold him the car to help out around the repair shop in return for use of his tools.

IX
Ricky leaned against the wall. "I wouldn't call it play," he said. "I've got a lot to learn before Merle and I go into business together."

"I... I don't understand," Ricky's father said. "It's simple," Ricky answered. "We're fixing up the coupe together. If we can sell it and make a profit, Merle's going to be my partner, making custom cars. In four or five years we'll have something."

"Four or five years," Ricky's mother repeated. "But... what about your plans for college?"

"I'm not going to college," Ricky said. "Merle doesn't think I have to."

"Ricky are you out of your mind? What does Merle know about...?" His mother was so upset she couldn't find the right words.

"Merle knows a lot about cars," Ricky said. "More than I could learn in college, I bet."

"Is that all you want to know in life?" Ricky's father asked, trying to remain calm.

Ricky nodded. "I want to build custom cars."

Ricky's mother answered him angrily. "Cars! For the sake of cars you intend to give up everything and become a partner of the most shiftless, worthless, unsavory—" "Merle's just as good as anybody else in this town," Ricky said defiantly. "And he knows a lot that other people don't know."

"I'm sure he does," Ricky's mother said bitterly. "What an ideal you picked!"

"Now wait a minute," Ricky's father said. "Son, if you want to build custom cars, there's not a thing wrong with the idea. But that's even more reason why you should go to college. Building cars is a job that takes an engineer as well as a mechanic. You could study engineering and design and metals, and when you graduated you would be equipped to take other people's cars and work on them."

"You can't beat practical knowledge," Ricky said. "That's what Merle says."

"I'm not saying anything against practical knowledge. It's essential. But you get that at college too. The point is, with what you are learning now, plus your college education, you'll be able to get ahead in life, and make something of yourself."

"All I want is my own speed and custom shop," Ricky said looking at his parents with a plea for understanding in his eyes. "If I'm good, people will come to me and I'll go places. I don't want to go to college. I want to stay here and start my business."

"I see," his mother said. "I see the Merle Connor of the future." She got up and began to clear away the dishes. His father also looked as though he were in mourning.

His coupe was waiting for him in the driveway. In the month he'd had it, it hadn't changed much on the outside. He had fixed the spring, and it rode level now, but the real progress had been made inside.

He got in and started the motor, smiling as it sounded tight and even. He could thank Merle for that. He'd gone to Merle with a lot of fancy speed ideas. When Ricky had finished talking, Merle had thrown away his cigar and yawned.

"You might as well try to hop-up the kitchen stove as what you've got here. Planning to buy a new motor, are you?"

"I can't."

"All right. We'll start with what you've got. Get all the tired parts fixed, and then maybe you'll have something to work on."

That's the way they had started. When he was through with his chores around the garage he would get busy on his car. For all the information he had picked up reading the auto magazines, it had taken Merle, standing by lazily, directing him with a kind of impersonal sarcasm, to teach him the basic approach to rebuilding a car.

At first Merle had been content to stand around and haw-haw at Ricky's stupidity. But the way Ricky had hung on, grimly trying to learn, had quickened Merle's interest. It wasn't long before Merle was neglecting the tires people had brought in to be fixed, and the other minor jobs he attracted, to give cooperation to Ricky.

Ricky hadn't done much driving that month, but Merle, always an accomplished borrower of tools he didn't have, had taken him on a tour of how to put strength and vigor back into tired iron.

Merle had shown Ricky how to do a valve and ring job, and while the block was out, Merle had loaded it on his truck, along with the heads and the flywheel.

"I know a guy runs a machine shop owes me a favor," Merle had said. The block had been ported and relieved, to allow better breathing and escape for the exhaust gases. The iron heads had been milled to boost compression, and the flywheel lightened. "You get some speed equipment now," Merle had grunted. "We got something to hang it on. Now you're ready for that straight pipe."

That was their weak spot, anything they had to buy.

They had worked on the body too. Nothing fancy, just what it took to iron out the dents, smooth it and get it ready for leading, scraping and repainting. Ricky wouldn't do much body work till he worked out a good design.

Royal Winnipeg Ballet Booked For 1954-55 Concert Season

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, which made its first United States appearance last season, and performed before packed concert halls throughout the country, has been booked to appear in Escanaba on the 1954-55 Community Concert series. The date is definite on this booking. The other two concerts will be selected at a later date.

The Ballet Company was enthusiastically received wherever it appeared last season, and even those unfamiliar with ballet and viewing it for the first time were most pleasantly impressed. The Winnipeg Ballet gave a command performance before Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during its 1951 North American tour, and Queen Elizabeth conferred the title of "Royal Winnipeg Ballet" upon the company.

The group was established in 1938 by Gwenth Lloyd, who was one of England's most famous dance personalities. In its first season, the Ballet group performed for King George VI and Queen Elizabeth when they were touring Canada. Gradually the Ballet Company's tours became more extensive throughout the United States and Canada and its members steadily grew in artistry and prestige. Today, they have established themselves among the major companies of ballet artists.

Only Two Open Dates
It was necessary for the Delta County Community Concert Association to make a definite decision on a booking for this concert number, as there were only two open dates available.

The program of this group is varied. Their presentations last season included "Swan Lake," a favorite of devotees of classical ballet. "Shadow on the Prairie," a modern interpretation of ballet, was very popular with all audiences, as was the highly amusing "Finishing School." The group is dedicated to the high ideals in ballet and is most earnest in its endeavor to present programs that appeal to everyone.

The Community Concert membership drive now has reached the half-way mark. The office is located at the Chamber of Commerce, in charge of Mrs. John Luecke, Association secretary, and Mrs. Pauline Walston, the national Community Concert representative, who is spending the entire week here working with the 85 local volunteer membership personnel.

Closes Saturday Noon
The volunteer workers are making every effort to contact as many people as possible to obtain enough memberships to make this the most successful concert year in Escanaba. Memberships also may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office or ordered by phoning Mrs. Luecke at 3147 from 9 on to 5 p. m. each day this week.

The membership drive will close Saturday noon of this week. No memberships will be available after that time.

'Green Thumb' Can Be Acquired, County Agent Says

Any person who will give thought and study to the needs of plants can develop a "green thumb," Clayton D. Reid, county agricultural agent, told members of Schoolcraft County Home Demonstration clubs at their annual achievement day program Tuesday night in the Germfask community building.

A "Green Thumb," he explained, is a term used to describe persons able to make plant life grow luxuriantly. These people with "green thumbs," he noted, usually are "interesting, friendly and neighborly folks, who like to see things grow, and who want their homes and surroundings beautiful."

The reasons they are said to have "green thumbs" are three, the agricultural agent observed. First, they understand the needs of plants. Second, they never neglect them, and third, they spend a little time each day caring for and enjoying their plants.

Temperatures
"Plants can't talk, but they will tell you if they need food, more light, water or fresh air—if you learn to read their sign language," Reid pointed out.

Light requirements for plants vary, but all need some light to manufacture food. Generally speaking, flowering plants require a maximum of light, and foliage plants can get along with less light, he stated. Some plants need to be shaded from direct sunlight, he added.

Temperature requirements also vary, the agricultural agent noted. Most plants do well when the daytime temperature is 70 to 72 degrees and the night temperature 60 to 65 degrees. There should be a variation in night temperatures so that food manufactured during the day can be assimilated, he explained.

Watering Important
Plants need fresh air and humidity, but they are not as "fussy" as people believe.

about the kind of soil they grow in as most people think, Reid explained. A garden loam with a good organic content and a little sand is best, he said.

For potted plants, a good formula is to mix two parts of loam with one part manure and one part sand, he stated. Two cups per bushel of commercial fertilizer, should be added if plants are young, growing or in a blooming stage, Reid noted.

Plants, he added, should be repotted twice a year to allow for growth, prevent them from becoming "root-bound," and to provide fresh soil, plant food and for aeration of roots.

Watering is the most important job in raising plants and the one that requires most judgment, Reid said. House plants with growing, fibrous roots need daily watering, while a cactus can go for weeks without watering. A plant needs frequent watering while it is growing or blooming, he stated.

"If you would have a 'green thumb,' examine plants daily, and water them whenever the soil feels dry," the agricultural agent concluded.

Audio-Visual Specialist Will Speak Thursday

Donald W. Ickes, audio-visual director for Escanaba public schools, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Lakeside-Central PTA in Lakeside school Thursday night beginning at 8.

Mr. Ickes is a graduate of the University of Chicago and has initiated numerous projects in Escanaba schools in which current events are presented and analyzed in social science classes. These have included propaganda analyses on broadcasts from Moscow.

Lunch will be served after the meeting by mothers of 5th and 6th grade classes taught by Mrs. Muriel Cookson.

Bag-pipes are believed to have originated in ancient Egypt.

New Probate Fees Slated

A fee of $4 will be levied, effective immediately, on three types of petitions filed in probate court, in accordance with provisions of the bill establishing a probate judges' retirement system in Michigan, John S. Faketty, probate judge for Schoolcraft County, reports.

The judges' retirement plan will be financed through a contribution of 5 per cent of the judge's salary, three new fees, and interest from a reserve fund.

The fees will be levied on petitions for appointment of administrators, both general and special; petitions for adoption, and petitions for probate of a will on estates larger than $1500. The fee is $4 on each.

No fees were charged for these before, Judge Faketty said.

Present probate judges have until July 1 to enroll in the plan, and those elected afterwards automatically are enrolled, Judge Faketty stated.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS
Wednesday, May 19, 1954—13

Upper Michigan probate judges met Monday in Marquette to discuss provisions of the retirement system and to consider whether or not they also should continue to participate in the federal social security program. The consensus at Marquette, Judge Faketty said, was that judges should continue in the social security program. Five Upper Michigan probate judges, he said, are contemplating retiring shortly.

Trojans Beat Stephenson, Play Eskymos On Thursday

The St. Joseph Trojans and the Escanaba Eskymos will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 at City Diamond in an inter-city high school baseball game that promises to be the feature of the season.

Casey Stengel Lauds Richards

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel brought his New York Yankees to town Tuesday and made the Chicago White Sox take it on the chin. Then Stengel advised the Sox to put their manager, Paul Richards, under a long term contract.

Played before the largest home crowd of the season, 37,158, the Yanks pulled out a 4-3 victory when Gene Woodling hit a two-run homer in the eighth and Yogi Berra knocked in a tie-breaking run in the ninth.

Stengel aimed at sweeping the two-game series by sending his ace southpaw "soft stuff" pitcher, Ed Lopat, who has won five straight, against the Sox' Billy Pierce (2-3) today.

"Looks like Richards is doing a right, good job again," said Stengel. "But it seems to me that other fellow out there (General manager Frank Lane) who does all the talking about the time he was getting himself a long term contract with the Sox, should have thought about nailing Richards down with one, too. (Richards' current two-year pact expires after this season).

"That guy's a pretty good manager. . . and I shouldn't be telling Lane to keep him because if he went out of the league, maybe I'd last longer myself. I kinda got an idea that a few other clubs might be interested in Mr. Richards for a term of years."

Does that mean the White Sox are the team Stengel fears most in the American League race this year?

"No," he said. "We fear everybody and we fear nobody, depending on the situation. The whole league is much faster. The Tigers and A's have more speed. Maybe everybody'll be tied by September and we'll have to start all over again."

'M' Basketball Awards Issued

Coach Rudie Brandstrom awarded first year letters to Donald Anderson, Edward Bernier, Robert Corson, Kenneth Dixner, Robert Hastings, Marvin Larson and Eddie Leonard, manager; and second year letters to James Garvin, William Holm, Carl Scharstrom, Kenneth Thompson and Thomas Quinn, captain.

The program opened with cheerleaders leading the flag pledge, and included remarks on the code of the "M" by William J. Cook, athletic director. J. Earl Cousineau led students in singing the school song at the conclusion.

their engagement with the Eskymos by routing the Stephenson Eagles yesterday, 12-2, revenging the only defeat sustained this season by the St. Joseph nine.

Berrigan had a shutout until the seventh when Strohl blasted a home run, scoring Martin who had walked, ahead of him. Greenwood tripled for the Trojans.

Cass will pitch for the Trojans against the Eskymos and Coach Rouman is expected to send his ace right hander, Harlan Breitman, to the mound for the Eskymos.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa. (AP)—The communities of Mauch Chunk and East Mauch Chunk, near Scranton, have voted overwhelmingly to merge to become Jim Thorpe, Pa., in honor of the famed Indian athlete.

A 10-million-dollar heart and cancer hospital is planned for the new community in the heart of the eastern Pennsylvania anthracite area. Thorpe died last year of cancer. His body will be buried in a special tomb here.

Frank House Continues Hitting Streak, Tigers Defeat Athletics, 8-3

DETROIT (AP)—After five uncertain years, catcher Frank House — a $75,000 bonus bust until now — is starting to pay overdue dividends to the Detroit Tigers.

In a 13-game hitting streak, the 24-year-old backstop has raised his average 180 points — from .191 to .371, making him the third leading hitter in the American League.

House delivered a single and double Tuesday to help the Tigers to an 8-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Signed for $75,000
The Tigers signed House in the fall of 1948 for a then-fabulous $75,000 and two automobiles. There followed five years of frustration, and this spring the club was ready to write him off and ship him to the minors.

House hit .261 in 1949 with Flint (Mich.) in the old Central League and .232 in 1951 with Toledo of the American Assn. Between these mediocre performances, he sat on the Detroit bench and spent two years in the army.

He returned to the Tigers this spring and "looked bad — real bad," said Tiger skipper Fred Hutchinson. "He was awful at the plate and worse behind it."

The Tigers were set to farm House to Little Rock, the Detroit front office decided to give him one more chance.

No. 7 For Gromek
Coach Johnny Hopp worked on his hitting another coach, Bob Swift, worked on House's defensive weaknesses and Hutchinson played the well-built, foot-2 catcher almost every day.

On May 1, House started his 13-game hitting streak, and his play behind the plate became steadier and surer.

Whether his climbing batting average will come crashing down is not known, of course, but at least he has given hope to the Tigers, and that's something the club has had very little of during the last few seasons.

Steve Gromek went all the way yesterday for Detroit, spacing six Philadelphia hits for his seventh victory against only one loss. He has beaten every club in the league at least once except the New York Yankees, who dealt him his lone defeat last Friday.

Cardinals Play Trenary Sunday In Bay de Noc Opener

MANISTIQUE — A hot inter-community baseball rivalry will be fanned Sunday afternoon when the Manistique Cardinals, piloted for the fourth year by Manager Fred Lesica, open their 14th Bay de Noc league season at Trenary.

The line-up for the game with the Trenary Merchants will see Donald Carlson and Kenneth Tommeson in the pitching box and James Cowman replacing Richard Makinen as catcher.

Playing in the infield for the Cardinals will be Mike Radgens, Donald Tiglas, Homer Weber, Marvin Frederickson, Lyle DeMars and Fred Lesica. Jack Phillips, Rudie Brandstrom, Francis Selling and Herb Calhoun will be in the outfield.

Playing in the league this year are two new teams, Gladstone and Cornell. Other teams are Manistique, Cooks, Garden, Fayette, Rapid River and Trenary.

The Cardinals have had six practice sessions this season and have concentrated on hitting and infield practice. The field this year will be improved with fill and the backstop will be completed.

Manistique Will Be Represented In U. P. Track Finals

MANISTIQUE — Three Manistique trackmen and an Emerald medley team qualified last Saturday in Escanaba for participation in the Upper Peninsula finals at Houghton Saturday, May 15.

Patrick LaFave won the pole vault; Don Anderson was second in the 440-yard run; and Loyal Archey tied for third in the broad jump.

The 4-man medley team which will compete at Houghton, along with those who qualified in other events, will be selected from the following: Ed Bernier, Don Anderson, Patrick LaFave, Mike Farley, Ken Dixner, Francis Laurion, and Alroy Mersnick.

The Emerald track squad will not compete after this weekend until the Great Lakes conference here May 29.

Great Future Ahead For MSC Athletics, Says Duff Daugherty

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
EAST LANSING (AP)—Do state-supported universities have a big bulge over privately endowed institutions in athletics?

In the opinion of Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's new football coach, they do — in football and in every other respect. And he points to Michigan State's phenomenal athletic development as proof.

Daugherty, a product of Syracuse University, is completely sold of Michigan State. Duffy obviously feels that his own elevation to the head coaching job and Biggie Munn's promotion to athletic director is a sign that Michigan State has reached athletic maturity.

Many New Buildings

"We don't have traditions like the Ivy League schools, but we can tell our players they're in the process of building a football tradition," Duffy explained.

Michigan boys now come here in a first instead of naturally gravitating to the University of Michigan as they once did. When they show up—football players, that is—Daugherty and his assistants can show them around a spacious campus where new buildings seem to spring up overnight and point out the obvious educational advantages of having the best equipment and the best faculty in addition.

Joseph T. Johnson, golf pro at the Glenmere Country Club, Chester, N. Y., was a track star at Brown University.

Race For National League Top Turns Out To Be Traffic Jam

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Before long they may have to install traffic signals to untangle the jam that's developing in the race for first place in the National League.

Only a two-game spread separates the Chicago Cubs in seventh place from the Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn Dodgers, who are deadlocked at the top. The Cubs, who have played fewer, are even closer in the vital "games lost" column. Chicago has lost 14 games, the Phils and Dodgers 13 each.

Single Victory Counts

With the race so tight, a single victory or loss can send a team bouncing up or down the standings. Tuesday night, for example, the New York Giants went into their game with the St. Louis Cardinals in third place but with a chance to take over first if they won. Instead, they got beaten 9-3 and tumbled to fourth.

The Cardinals took over third, where they trail the leaders by a bare four percentage points.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia both lost Tuesday night. The Dodgers again were held to a single run and bowed 7-1 to Warren Hacker and the Chicago Cubs. Milwaukee beat the Phillies 6-2. Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 6-5 in the other National League contest.

The first-place race in the American League also is close but it doesn't go as deep into the standings. Fourth-place Detroit is only two games out, but Baltimore, in fifth, is 6½ behind.

Cleveland hung on to the lead by whipping Boston 6-3 for its sixth straight victory. The New York Yankees moved into second with a come-from-behind verdict over the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Detroit trimmed Philadelphia 8-3 and Washington defeated Baltimore 3-1.

Simmons Magic Wanes

The Cardinals converted six hits into six runs in the first two innings with the help of two Giant errors. Red Schoendienst hit his first homer in the eighth. Hank Thompson hit one for the Giants.

While Hacker was taming Brooklyn on four hits, the Cubs opened with four straight singles and scored four runs in the first inning against Billy Loes. The only Brooklyn run came in the seventh on Duke Snider's blast over the scoreboard.

Curt Simmons of the Phils held a 1-0 lead going into the sixth when his magic expired after an error by Granny Hamner let in the tying Milwaukee run. With two on and two out, Johnny Logan tripled and rode home on a single by Del Crandall.

Al Rosen hit two homers and drove in another run with a double for Cleveland. Ted Williams collected one single for Boston but failed twice with the bases loaded.

The White Sox pulled away to a 3-0 lead only to get caught by the Yankees in the eighth when, with two out and one on, Gene Woodling hit a home run. In the ninth, with two out and two on, Yogi Berra drilled a single off Don Johnson for the winning run.

Steve Gromek became the winningest pitcher in either league when he picked up no. 7 for the Tigers at the expense of the Athletics. The former Cleveland right-hander won only seven all last season. He's been beaten once.

Baltimore's Bob Turley lost another close one when Mickey Vernon's sixth inning triple scored two of Washington's three runs.

Harry Needham placed second, shooting a 43 with a seven handicap and was even with par. Dr. K. Harrington was third with a 54 and an 11 handicap, one down to par. Jack Root had low gross, a 41.

This weekend a best ball two-some tournament will be held at the club and on Memorial Day a foursome event is scheduled. Golfers are asked to call the golf shop for starting times for the Memorial Day tournament on Monday, May 31.

Supreme Court Renews Tradition Of Quill Pen

WASHINGTON — Thanks to a flock of Embden geese, the Supreme Court has just revived one of its oldest traditions — stocking its courtroom with quill pens. From its beginning the highest tribunal had used the feathery shafts plucked from the outer wing of the goose. But at the end of World War II its sole supply from a London manufacturer ran out. Thus was broken a largely ceremonial but nonetheless venerable link with the past.

Now, however, a New Haven, Connecticut, goose fancier has sold the court 1,500 quill pens at 15 cents each. As a result, every day lawyers find 20 prim, white, 10-inch quills crossed in pairs atop lined note pads, says the National Geographic Society.

One of Greatest Tools

The quill pen stands among literature man's greatest tools — the instrument that set down unforgettable chapters in American history and the richest passages in English literature.

Almost certainly William Shakespeare grasped a goose quill when he wrote, "Many wearing rapiers are afraid of goosequills" — a forerunner of Bulwer-Lytton's famous line, "The pen is mightier than the sword." Thomas Jefferson cut his own goose quills and wrote the Declaration of Independence with one. John Hancock may have held a goose quill for the flourishing strokes that affixed his showy signature to the Declaration. And George Washington signed his name many times with a variety of cherished goose quills.

The development of paper lent a helping hand to the early pen. From the 6th century monks used it to copy religious manuscripts, sometimes adding at the end "This was written with one crow quill." Later expert penmen engrossed treaties and other formal documents with the quill.

Artisans fashioned pens from feathers of the swan, crow, eagle, owl, hawk, peacock, and turkey.

Human Bones Found Up In Porcupines; Sent To East Lansing

WAKEFIELD (P) — Human bones found in the Porcupine Mountains will be sent to the State Crime Laboratory at East Lansing for examination.

State police of the Wakefield post went to the area 13 miles northwest of Bergland Monday, nearly six months after a group of Indiana deer hunters first reported the find.

The hunters came across the bones last fall, but did not report them immediately for fear an investigation might block their hunting. After they returned to their homes, Henry F. Cripe of Goshen, Ind., reported the find to sheriff's officers, who relayed the information to Michigan state police.

Heavy mountain snows delayed a follow-up on the report until yesterday.

The bones, believed to have been there less than 10 years, included a skull, pelvis and an arm or leg.

No Other Mud Like Missouri River

OMAHA (P) — To Detective John Zaloudek there's nothing that looks quite like Missouri River mud. Assigned to combing schools for boys who might have been involved in an accidental river bottoms shooting, Zaloudek took one look at the boots of one boy and arrested him.

"I knew it was Missouri River mud as soon as I spotted it," he said. "We questioned the boy and he told us the story."

Michigan Polio Case Load Down

DETROIT (AP)—The state health commissioner reported Michigan's polio cases so far in 1954 are lower than they were last year at this time.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, said the total so far this year was 77, compared to 84 last year.

None of the children who received the Salk polio vaccine have been hit by the disease as yet, according to Dr. Frederick S. Leeder, head of the disease control division of the Michigan Health Department.

He said, however, it was too early to "place an interpretation" on the statistics.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that Michigan's cases, though lower than last year, are still higher than the five year average for this date.

Dr. Leeder said that some 54,600 children will take the last shot in the three-injection Salk series the last week of this month. He added: "We are waiting for the crucial months of July, August and September."

The Foundation said the nation's total polio case load is higher this year than last.

Pool Yields Gas

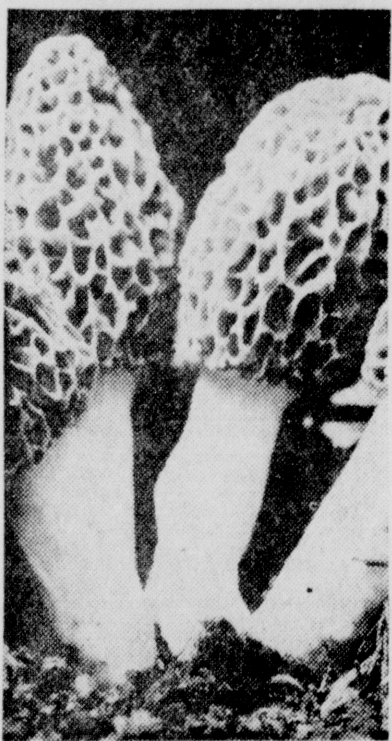

WEISER, Idaho (AP)—City officials report they dug a well for the municipal swimming pool and for use in care of lawns. But little water has come from the well.

Instead, natural gas has poured out at a steady 20 pounds pressure. The city has installed a meter to see if the gas can be put to use commercially.

Tests Prove Foam Cleans Carpets Brighter

Naturally you want your carpeting and upholstery to look bright after you have worked to clean it. Make this test; clean the carpeting in one room with famous Fina Foam and another room with any other type of rug cleaner. Let the results of this test be your guide. Nothing cleans carpets like foam and no foam like Fina Foam. Available at The Fair Store, Escanaba. (Adv.)

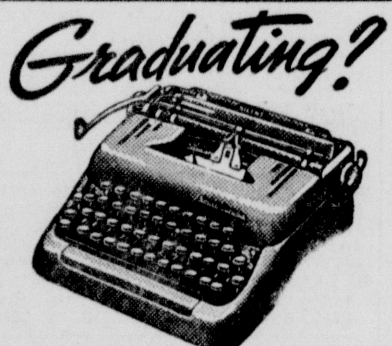

It's Safe to Eat These

THIS is what the genus Morella, la esculenta of the morel, a highly edible and safe variety of mushroom, looks like. It is found all over Michigan in woods and abandoned orchards, according to Alexander Smith, University of Michigan professor of botany.

City Grants Raise

LUDINGTON (AP)—The Ludington City Commission approved a new contract with city employees Monday calling for a 10 cent an hour wage increase. The new pact, effective June 1, will cost the city $11,000 a year.

Cameras Check Up On Gambling

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—This gambling city is preparing to catch cheaters by electronics.

One plus casino, The Sands, inaugurated Monday night an elaborate television circuit by which Jake Freedman, president of the hotel corporation, can watch all 10 gaming tables at once from his office on the floor above.

The closed circuit consists of 10 cameras which show, on the screen of Freedman's receiver, only the hands of the players and dealers at the 10 tables. Any untoward activity can be reported by Freedman to pit bosses or other floor officials.

The cameras, a hotel spokesman said, do not identify the players but show only their hands and the exchange of money between dealers and players.
